Chad W.C. Dodson

Lead Designer

Credentials:

BArch –University of Idaho, 1996

Experience:

Chad has gained 20 years of experience in the field of architecture working as a designer and illustrator for a local architectural firm as well as a national firm and most recently, a joint partner of his own company. As a project manager and lead designer, Mr. Dodson's prides himself in his communication and problem solving skills. Able to discern, digest and ultimately help formulate a client's vision for a project is a skill that has helped clients to many successful projects. Careful listening and not being afraid to continually learn in every project has helped him hone his particular skill set. His creativity is at its peak when working in a team environment. Not only has he had success in a leadership role in such teams, but looks to equally feed the team concept as well as draw from it. Mr. Dodson always strives to understand and implement the client's design and budget goals while developing possible solutions with the knowledge gained from past experience.
